THE ROWAN COUNTY NEWS

VOLUME NUMBER: Old Series, No. 61; New Series, No. 25.

MOREHEAD, KENTUCKY, THURSDAY, AUG. 20, 1942.

NUMBER THIRTY THREE

We pledge Allegiance to the Flag of the United States, and to the Republic for which it stands. ONE NATION, indivisible with LIBERTY and JUSTICE for ALL.

Americans All

On Friday of this week takes place an event which every person in Rowan county should attend. The Dedication of the new Morehead Naval Training Station (Elex).

And just why should we attend this dedication?

First, Because as an American, you owe it to yourself to see young America in action. And on Friday afternoon you will be granted that privilege. You will see over four hundred American boys and young men, in their pride and strength, on parade. You will see over four hundred young men gathered from every part of these United States march with one purpose, one great undying and unforgotten purpose. You will see four hundred young men of all nationalities, of all religions, of all walks of life, marching on to victory. You will see AMERICA. You will see your boy and our neighbors boy, perhaps not in person, but certainly in spirit for you will see the proud and the unconquerable spirit of 1776, of 1812, of 1862, of 1898, and of 1918 marching hand in hand to the victory that will be theirs.

Because we believe that to be true the Rowan County News has printed this Edition, and has dedicated it to the Morehead Naval Training Station. And in a larger sense we are dedicating it and all our efforts to winning the War.

These Boys Are American Boys
We urge the citizens of this community (although we realize they need no urging) to remember that these boys in the Navy here are just like your sons who are serving elsewhere in the Armed Forces. They are American boys taken from all walks of life and gathered together to be moulded into naval men who will eventually do our fighting for us. They were farmers; they were clerks; or they were laborers. They are sailors and naval men.

So if you see a sailor, don't forget. He might have been your OWN son met by one of the mother's of one of these boys. How would you want him to be treated? How would you bless the one who showed even a small kindness to our son so far away from home. Just so will that other boy's mother bless you for any kindness you may show him.

Are You Proud?

The other morning we saw a parade in fact we saw two parades. We saw a number of the young men who had been called to the Army going down to the depot to take the train to their induction camp. They were accompanied by their mothers or wife or sweetheart or by the entire family. We were struck by the fact that though it was parting for many, it was more or less of a happy parting. We saw fathers wipe their eyes, and then turn around to slap their sons on the back and give them that final word of encouragement that in the days to come will mean much to the boys. We saw mothers smile, tearfully, it is true, but none the less smile a proud smile as they saw their sons go to the train, and we knew that those mothers were bidding a last farewell and whispering a silent prayer for the welfare of their sons.

Naval Air Cavalcade To Be Here Sun.

The Rowan County News has scored again. Learning of the proposed Air Cavalcade in the interest of Navy Recruiting to be in Ashland Sunday, August 23, the Editor of the News immediately got in touch with Lieut. G. E. Kinnannon, officer in charge of Recruiting at the Louisville recruiting station, to request that the Air Cavalcade en route to Ashland, pass over Morehead and "bomb" this city with pamphlets. Lieut. Kinnannon agreed to make arrangements if possible. Wednesday we received the letter which brought the good news that the Air Cavalcade will pass over this city and will bomb us to our hearts content.

Some may think this is nothing to get excited about. But we venture to say that very few of us have ever seen a flight of over fifty air planes at one time, except in the movies, and we venture to add that the citizens of Morehead will be more than thrilled when they do pass over and when they drop their pamphlet bombs.

will be something worth remembering.

For your information we publish Lieut. Kinnannon's letter in full.

Mr. Jack Wilson,
Morehead, Kentucky.

Dear Mr. Wilson:
After the telephone conversation with you this morning I have checked with Mr. Howard Brown of the Civil Air Patrol and he states that it will be possible weather permitting, to drop their pamphlet bombs.

Junk Rally Is Set For Sept. 7 To 12

Russell Barker and his Salvage committee are functioning and are able to report that up to date over 20 tons of scrap have been collected in the big drive that is to close the week of September 7 to 12 in a most spectacular Rally for Rowan county. Plans are being made the details of which will be announced later, to gather in every ounce of old iron, brass, copper, rope rags, grease or less of a hallow partner. We saw fathers wipe their eyes, and then turn around to slap their sons on the back and give them that final word of encouragement that in the days to come will mean much to the boys. We saw mothers smile, tearfully, it is true, but none the less smile a proud smile as they saw their sons go to the train, and we knew that those mothers were bidding a last farewell and whispering a silent prayer for the welfare of their sons.

On another page of this issue a number of pertinent questions pertaining to the campaign to Scrap the Jap with Scrap are answered. We suggest that you read these questions. Additional questions will be answered in the next two issues of the News.

NAVAL DEDICATION IS SET FOR FRIDAY P. M.

Allie Forman Is Hurt In Strange Accident

Allie Forman who runs a store and filling station west of Morehead on Route 60, suffered a peculiar and painful accident last Monday night, that resulted in a broken jaw and a number of cuts and bruises.

Mr. Forman had filled up the tank of a lady's car with gas. For some reason, presumably by accident, the lady stepped on the gas and the car started while the hose nozzle was still in the tank. The hose stretched and finally pulled loose, flying back to strike Mr. Forman in the face, cutting him and breaking his jaw.

The lady stopped and came back, as soon as she was able to get the car under control. That is one for the book.

Ruth Nickell Made Chief Operator

Mr. Paul W. Wesche, district supervisor, Ashland Home Telephone Company, announced today that Miss Ruth Nickell has been appointed chief operator of the Morehead office.

Miss Nickell is a native of Leon Higgins who is returning to the Ashland office where she will be employed in the traffic department.

Miss Nickell is a native of Morehead and while attending Morehead high school majors in commercial work. During the past three years she has been employed by the Ashland Home Telephone Company here in Morehead. A two weeks course was just completed in Ashland at which time Miss Nickell became acquainted with the routine practices of the company.

Captain Loftquist To Speak At Dedication Navy Captain, Governor To Speak

Navy Captain, Governor To Speak

Friday will mark what is not only a big day in the life of the Morehead Naval Training Station, but what should be a big day in Rowan county and Morehead as well. For Friday, August 21 will mark the formal dedication of that Station to the Service of the United States to build Navy men out of raw American material. It should be a solemn day, a day of meditation, a day of solemn thanksgiving that we of this county are thus permitted even in a small way, to do our part in the war effort. It should be as well a day for rejoicing that we are permitted to see and be a part of our great national effort. It should be a day of celebration, that these men are ready to fight for us and for the things that we hold dear.

The dedicatory program will begin at 12:30 with a luncheon for the participants and invited guests. It will feature parades and drills by the men of the Navy at Jayne Stadium parade grounds. Governor Johnson is to be a guest and to deliver an important address. Senator Abner W. Barkley has been invited and has indicated that he will be here. President Vaughan has an important part in the program.

And for the Navy, Commander George Walker, Commandant of the Station, will be on the rostrum, with Captain E. A. Loftquist of the Great Lakes Naval Training Station delivering the address of the day.

Morehead soldiers have more important days. Certainly they have never had a day that will bring them closer to the actual battle front than Friday will be. Every citizen of Rowan county who can possibly do so, is urged to be at Jayne Stadium for this important program of Dedication of the Morehead Naval Training Station.

Bank Wants Pictures Of Boys In Service

We have often wondered why some progressive business firm did not sponsor a display of the pictures of all the young men in the Armed Services. That question is now being answered by the Citizens Bank. They are now working on plans for a display of the pictures of all men from Rowan county who are in the service. The display will be in the service in the Army, Navy, Marine Corps of Coast Guard. Of course the display will include any girls who are in service as nurses or as members of the WAACS.

George McCullough Is Stationed In Texas

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCullough have received a letter from their son George, who is a cadet in the Army Air Corps, stating that he is located at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Texas, where he will probably take his cadet training.

Cadet McCullough left two weeks ago for the service. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McCullough, and enlisted in April with his parents' consent, but was not called for duty until two weeks ago.

Citizens Bank Offers Record For Picture

On another page of this issue of the News appears an interesting letter addressed to the parents of every man who is in the Armed Forces from this county. It is a letter that each of you should read, because it carries an offer of which each of you should take advantage.

The News has previously referred to the Service Record Books being given to the boys in the service or to their parents. This letter from the Bank is about the same thing.

This book is to be filled in by either, so that after the War is over, and the boys are back home and about their normal tasks, these boys will in a few years have a record to which they may turn and live over the greatest event in their life—the War for the Four Freedoms. It has everything that you could want in the way of records: incidents, transfers, promotions, awards, achievements, photographs, and the like.

Lieutenant Command George Walker

We, in the Naval Training School, who are still so preoccupied with the problem of organizing the school to meet the Navy's requirements, have a tendency to overlook the part the residents of Eastern Kentucky are playing in this organization.

I wish to take this opportunity on behalf of the officers and respectable citizens to provide open to the public in an attempt social activities which will be more attractive to our normal American youths than the dubious pleasures offered by these harpists.

It is my great pleasure to assure you that this is being done in a most satisfactory manner. Week after week, reports come to my attention of the good times our men are having each met by the citizens of Morehead and Rowan county. Mr. Sterling, Ashland and Lexington are also taking an active part in this problem.

As is usual when a large number of service men are assembled certain undesirable elements appear to prey upon these men. The best way to meet this problem is for the substantial and respectable citizens to provide open to the public in an attempt social activities which will be more attractive to our normal American youths than the dubious pleasures offered by these harpists.

DEAR FRIENDS:
We are celebrating the formal christening of the Navy Training Unit of the Morehead State Teachers College. The college and the people of the city of Morehead may be justly proud that the Bureau of Naval Education has selected this college as one of the sixteen colleges and universities in the mid-west as a training center for electricians for the Navy.

Real Chance Is Offered In Signal Corps

"Learning by doing" is characteristic of the civilian junior repairman trainees of the U. S. Signal Corps. Lafayette Trade School, Lexington, Kentucky, instructs its trainees with a streamlined tempo, demanded by modern warfare. It operates on a 24 hour day, three shifts basis. The course of study in which principles and theory are coordinated with shop and laboratory practices may extend over a period of four months. The more industrious students complete it in a shorter time.

The purpose of the J. R. T. course is to prepare men to take positions in the field in installations of the Signal Corps for overhaul, maintenance, repair and inspection of miscellaneous equipment.

Generally, the JRT course is known as the second of the preservice training courses, the first being the basic mechanical learner.

There are thirteen mechanic learner schools in Kentucky. In certain instances where previous experience merits it, the basic MLR course may be done away with if the prospective trainee qualifies with the U. S. Civil Service Commission, that does the hiring. In the ten preceding years, if the trainee does not take the basic course, he must have completed or acquired one of the following:

1. Allience to operate amateur radio stations, if trainee has built sets.
2. Six months of full time paid experience in technical radio work.
3. A two year vocational course in electricity telephone or in radio repair work.
4. A six months technical course in a radio school.
5. One year's study in a school of engineering.

While basic theory is essential to radio repair work conventional class procedure is minimized at Lafayette. The men of the vast civilian army of the U. S. Signal Corps are taking their places ingesting to it that communications in the armed forces will be kept open.

We Must Fight!

"That mankind may come out of tribulation and live together in fairness and peace, no man exploiting the weak, no man hating the strong."

Hear us and help us, we beseech Thee, O Lord."

So must we pray today. So must we fight today. WE must stand together—united, free men fighting for the great and limitless dream of freedom for all. This is the creed of democracy. This is the spirit of our republic. It must be put to practical application not in some stary future, but today.

As one of our poets has so beautifully said: "We cannot escape this any longer. We cannot continue to choose between good and evil. The good for ourselves, the evil for our neighbor."

WE must fight, Every American has a part to play, and it is up to us as Americans to find out where we can fight.

Americans All

We saw sons, proudly erect, and not ashamed to shed a few tears as they left their homes to serve this country in the war when her need was greater than their own or their family and friends: we heard them comfort their loved ones with "I'll be back after I settle with the Japs"; and then—

I saw these same fathers aid mothers on their way up the street after the train had gone on its way.

But most of all I could hear them say, "We are hurt to the heart, but we are proud; proud that we are Americans; proud that we can be a part of the world; proud that our son is physical, mentally and morally fit to serve." "And we will go home, perhaps to an empty home and we will do our part for our son or our neighbors son is doing his part, to win this war and that in the end a lasting and a just Peace may be ours."

Napier Field, Dothan, Alabama, August 11—Coming into the final stage of his cadet training, Walter W. Carr, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. P. Carr of Morehead, has just arrived at this training base of the advanced training flying school. It was announced today by the Napier Field Public Relations office. Cadet Carr is already a good pilot but when he completes this training he will be ready to step into the Army's most powerful planes and fly them with a skill that augurs no good for the Axis.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Barker now have two stars in their Service Flag, since their young son Ollie enlisted last week in the Marine Corps. He is now at Parris Island taking recruit training.

Ollie was one of ten out of 90 boys who took the examination at Louisville last week to be accepted for the Marine Corps. He was selected to take charge of the group and started immediately for Parris Island where he will be for eight weeks. Later he will go to Quantico where he will finish his training.

Another Torpedo Victim

Dee Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones of Soldier returned home last week on a furlough. And judging from the experiences he has had he was richly entitled to one.

Jones spent 34 days in Bombay, India, (a spot that most of us have heard of at least recently). Returning to America, around Africa, his ship was torpedoed off the coast of Madagascar, and sunk. The crew escaped to their life boats and were picked up after twelve hours in the water by an Eng-

There's 130 Lbs.
of Junk in your home!

In the attic or cellar of the average home there is 130 lbs. of junk. In ordinary times, it would stay there to gather dust. Or it would be destroyed.

But this is war. America needs every single pound of that junk—every pound of scrap metal, scrap rubber, and old rags. It is needed to make ships and shells, tires for jeeps, bombs, shells, guns.

Get it up! Why? And then turn it in. Sell it to a junkman. Or give it to a local charity. Remember, your junk can win the war.

Bomb 'em with JUNK

Let's blast Japan—and Germany—and Italy—with the chain lightning of destruction that can be built from the scrap in our cellars, attics and garages, on our farms and in our places of business.

Scrap iron and steel, other metals, rubber and waste materials. It will all be used to make tanks, ships, planes and the fighting weapons our boys must have. It is needed at once.

Sell it to a Junk dealer—give it to a charity or collection agency—take it yourself to the nearest collection point—or consult the Local Salvage Committee.... If you live on a farm, and have found no means of disposing of your Junk, get in touch with the County War Board or your farm implement dealer.

Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

KENTUCKIANS HAVE A RIGHT TO KNOW THE RIGHT ANSWERS!

HARRY D. FRANCE, State Director

- Q. Isn't strict regulation of legal beer and other beverages better than the unregulated conditions of Prohibition?
A. Positively! Prohibition's "blind pigs", speakeasies and bondsgers undermined the morals of our people and their respect for law and order. The government spent millions in enforcement, lost countless millions in revenue. Today, legally licensed beer outlets are under constant official surveillance and supervision. Gangsterism is gone, and beer alone provides the Federal Government with nearly half a billion dollars a year in much-needed tax revenue.
- Q. Do present laws provide adequate control of the sale of beer?
A. Yes. Under present enforcement methods, the Kentucky A. B. C. board maintains a staff of field agents to inspect licensed retail beer outlets. Law violations result in suspension or revocation of licenses. County and municipal officials are quick to move in whenever a proprietor violates the law. The irresponsibles are being systematically eliminated.
- Q. How is the beer industry in Kentucky meeting its public responsibilities?
A. By helping the authorities to maintain decent conditions wherever beer is sold. Proprietors are warned against allowing infractions. Persistent law violators are cited to proper officials by the Kentucky Committee of the Brewing Industry Foundation. With your cooperation, the remaining few undesirable beer outlets can be closed up or closed-up—without eliminating the great majority of law-abiding beer retailers.

What To Do With Your Scrap Problem Men In The Service

Many questions are being asked by those who have junk to dispose of. The following are answers to many such questions and are published for your convenience.

1. Why should salvage materials pass through the hands of Junk dealers instead of going straight to war production factories?

A. Scrap must be properly sorted, graded, prepared and packed, and accumulated in lots large enough to ship efficiently before it can be used by the mills. Only the Junk dealer has the experience and equipment to do this. Industrial plants using materials have always depended on him for this important processing.

2. How can one be sure that the Junk dealer won't hold the scrap to get higher prices?

A. The Junk dealer cannot get higher prices by holding, since ceilings have been placed by the government on prices at which he can sell to consuming mills. A well-run Junk yard always has a certain amount of junk on hand which is being marketed. It is also possible to accumulate enough of each grade so that economical shipments can be made. An empty Junk yard produces no scrap. Any dealer who hoards is subject to requisitioning by the government.

3. Are there ceiling prices on all scrap and waste materials?

A. The government has fixed ceiling prices regulating sales of all scrap and waste materials. There is no limitation on selling at a price below ceilings. Ceilings have been established for iron and steel scrap, non-iron metals, rubber scrap, burlap bags, rags, old manila, rope, waste paper and so on.

4. Why doesn't the government prescribe prices which a Junk dealer will pay for scrap?

A. There are too many factors involved to make this practical. The value of Junk in a house or on a farm depends on its condition and the cost of transporting it to market. Naturally the price ceilings limit the amount which Junk dealers can afford to pay.

5. Why doesn't the government collect Junk?

A. The government is collecting scrap-iron and rubber on farms where Junk dealers are not normally available. In most places the collection problem does not warrant a government-operated system.

6. Does the government wish gifts of scrap materials?

The government prefers that gifts of scrap be made to local charities service organizations or Defense councils. If you wish to help the government with your junk sell it to a Junk dealer and buy War Stamps or War Bonds with the proceeds.

This series of questions and answer will be continued in the next issue of the News.

Forest Service Reviews Work

In 1933 in the mountains of Eastern Kentucky, literally thousands of rural families lived along roads practically impassable the year round except by mule, which was the common means of travel. Another crying need then was to get young manhood off the streets, out of the alleys, and into constructive work.

Then too, thousands of southern mountain families had altogether empty cupboards. So in 1933 several "alphabetical" agencies came into being, and among them the Civilian Conservation Corps, the CCC. As a coincidence, the same impetus that created the CCC authorized the largest single program of purchase of land in the national history for National Forest purposes.

So the CCC and the U. S. Forest Service joined hands—the United States Government acquiring land in Kentucky and Rowan county for the Cumberland National Forest, and the Civilian Conservation Corps developing this land by constructing roads, trails, fire towers, and telephone lines under the direction of the Forest Service. It is difficult for the average individual, used to good roads, a telephone, electricity and gas

Not A Fish Tale

It Is The Truth

When is a fish story not a fish story?

The answer is "When it's the truth."

So this is not a fish story.

Mr. and Mrs. Curt Hutchinson and Mr. and Mrs. Alpha Hutchinson and Miss Dora returned home last week after an eight day vacation trip through Michigan during which they enjoyed fishing, boating and swimming, but did not catch any big ones. They came home through Mackinac Straits, Lake Michigan and Lake Huron.

In spite of the lack of fish tales, they enjoyed themselves.

Clearfield Eagles To Play Maysville Sunday Afternoon

Yes, ma'am! Clearfield is still playing ball and getting better all the time. Even though they have dropped a few games by hair-line decisions, they have a real ball team at our neighboring town, or should we say our neighboring town? Actually they are more of a twin sister than a neighbor, being part of one family with common interests.

Anyway, however we regard them, they have a real baseball team, and those who are baseball fans are missing a real opportunity for thrills if they don't attend.

Sunday August 23, the Clearfield Eagles play Maysville at Clearfield. We don't know much about Maysville's team, but we do know the Eagles will give the best of them a run for their money. The admission is 25 cts. for the men and 10 cts for their better halves. We hope no big armists apply. All men in uniform admitted free of charge.

The probable lineup for Sunday's game:

Brown	Center Field
Johnson	Short Stop
Schuler	Second Base
Johnson	Third Base
Morris	First Base
Reynolds	Right Field
Fannin	Catcher
Vinson	Pitcher

Five Rowan Boys To Enter Navy

When the Naval Air Cavalcade goes to Ashland (probably passing over Morehead en route, it will find five and probably more Rowan county boys in the line-up to be sworn into the Navy.

The swearing in ceremony is scheduled to be held at Ashland on Sunday, August 23 after an armada of fifty or more planes arrive at that city. The planes form the Naval Recruiting Service Air Cavalcade, which has been and is continuing to make weekly Sunday trips to the larger centers, in the interest of the Navy Recruiting Service.

The five Rowan county boys who signed up for the Navy here last Monday and who will be sworn in next Sunday at the mass ceremony are Mervel Eugene McClave Morehead; Guy Ed Paul Dowdy, Morehead; Guy Edie Lambert, Clearfield; Lloyd Garland Fugate, Clearfield; and Harold Lavant, Uterback, of Farmers, Kentucky.

To Johnny Doughboy's Mother And Dad,

You're mighty proud of him, aren't you?

Well, you have a good reason to be. He's tops! And when Johnny comes marching home again, you'll be prouder still. Happier, too for it'll be a better world when all this is over and done with.

But it IS something that HAS TO BE DONE. He and millions of other fine American boys are in there "pitching"—fighting and sacrificing—NOW, so that you and we, the stay-at-homes, can maintain our freedom and the democratic process in the years to come. And that's the way it should be.

We've reserved a little book for you—a SERVICE RECORD BOOK—that we believe you will want for that boy in uniform... It's a book to fill in and keep, so that you may have a lasting record of his life in the Service. It's small, handy and compact, with a khaki colored cover; moreover, it's profusely illustrated, showing the various Army, Navy, Marine and Coast Guard Insignia, the U. S. Medal of Honor, with pages for autographs and photographs, etc.

It is a book we're happy and proud to present to you, confident that in its pages you will find real and lasting pleasure as you re-live, with him, the highlights of his career in the Service of Uncle Sam. Be sure to stop in SOON and get your copy.

You may have one of these books in exchange for a snapshot or small photograph of him, in order that we can place his picture in our patriotic display in the windows of our bank.

Hoping this SERVICE RECORD BOOK gives you as much pleasure as the presentation of it does us, and happy of this further opportunity to serve you, we are, Cordially yours,

Permanent officers were elected for the Rowan County Farmers Club which was recently formed here. Robert Bishop was elected president; Claude Turner, vice-president; and D. C.
Caudill, secretary-treasurer.
These three, Glennis Fraley and Sam Lytton make up the board of directors for the organization.

At the meeting last week H.
C. Haggan teacher of agriculture in Morehead State Teachers college, made a short talk explaining the purpose of the club. Woodrow Wilson, teacher of agriculture, gave a brief outline of the new adult program in agriculture. It is known as the "Out of School Youth and Adult Program." Mr. Wilson pointed out that the program is sponsored by the Rowan County Board of Education and thru the club it is hoped to provide training in agriculture for every farm family. This training may be either in the production of food or in repair of farm machinery and equipment.

The club is seeking new members since it is to cover the entire county. Any interested person should plan to attend the next meeting which will be held Friday night August 21 at 8:00 o'clock at the public school in Morehead.

A constitution and by-laws committee composed of Lester Hogge, chairman, Woodrow Wilson and Dr. Ed Shannon is to report at the meeting. Any person not familiar with the program will have an opportunity to learn about it at that time.

The club now has twenty members who are as follows:
Arthur Caudill; Sam Lytton, D.

The Four Freedoms

Beyond the War lies Peace. Both sides have sketched the outlines of the new world they ward which they strain. The leaders of the Axis countries have published their design, and have also committed certain aims to writing. They plan a world in which men stand straight and walk free, free peoples will live out their lives of all human trouble but free of in the service of their masters, the fear of despotic power, free to develop as individuals, free to direct and shape their affairs. Such a world has been more than fact; but it has been the hope men have had and the one for which they have consistently shown themselves willing to die.

This freedom, this liberty, this precious thing men love and mean to save, is the good granite ledge on which the United Nations now propose to raise their new world after victory. The purpose of this article is to examine and define the essential freedoms.

To talk of war aims, shouting over the din of battle while the planet rocks and vibrates, may seem futile to some. Yet the talk must go on among free peoples. The faith people have in themselves is what the free have to build upon. Such faith is basic to them—man's hot belief in man, a belief which suggests that human beings are capable of ordering their affairs. This is a high complicity, it is paid by man to himself, an evidence or gesture of self-respect, of stature, of dignity, and of worth, an affidavit of individual responsibility.

The freedoms we are fighting for, we who are free, the freedoms for which the men and women in the concentration camps and prisons and in the dark streets of the shibugated countries are fighting in number.

"The first is freedom of speech and expression—everywhere in the world."

"The second is freedom of every person to worship God in his own way—everywhere in the world."

"The third is freedom from want—which, translated into world terms, means economic understandings which secure to every nation a healthy peace and life for its inhabitants—everywhere in the world."

"The fourth is freedom from fear—which, translated into world terms, means a world-wide reduction of armaments to such a point and in such a thorough fashion that no nation will be in a position to commit an act of physical aggression against any neighbor—anywhere in the world."

(From the address of President Franklin D. Roosevelt to the Seventy-seventh Congress.)

These freedoms are separate but not independent. Each one relies upon all the others. Each supports the whole, which is liberty. When one is missing, all the others are jeopardized. A person who lives under a tyrant, and has lost freedom of speech, most necessarily is tortured by fear. A person who is in a great want is usually also in a great fear—fear of even more dire want and greater insecurity. A person denied the right to worship in his own way has thereby lost the knack of free speech for unless he is free to express his religious conviction, his protest of free speech (even though not specifically denied) is meaningless.

A person tortured with fears has lost both the privilege of free speech and the strength to supply himself with his needs. Clearly these four freedoms are as closely related as dependent one upon another, as the four seasons of the natural year, whose winter snows irrigate the spring, and whose dead leaves, fermenting, rebuild the soil for summer's yield.

The first two freedoms—freedom of speech and freedom of religion—are cultural. They are prerogatives of the thinking man of the creative and civilized human being. Sometimes, as in the United States, they are guaranteed by organic law.

They are either slowly understood, and the laws protecting them are continually being revised and adjusted to preserve their basic meaning. Freedom from fear and from want, on the other hand, are not part of our culture but part of our environment—they concern the facts of our lives rather than the thoughts of our minds. Men are unafraid, or well-fed, or are both, according to the condition under which they live.

To be free a man must live in a society which has relieved those curious pressures which pressure to make men slaves, pressure of a despotic government, pressure of intolerance, pressure of want. The declaration of the four freedoms, is therefore not a promise of a gift which, under certain circumstances the people will receive; it is a declaration of the design which the people themselves may execute.

Freedom of whatever sort, is relative. Nations united by a common effort to create a better world are obviously not projecting a Utopia in which nobody shall want for anything. That is not the point—nor is it within the range of human possibility. What unites them is the purpose to create a world in which no one need want for a minimum of necessities of an orderly and decent life, for cleanliness, for self-respect and security. It is an ambitious design, perhaps too ambitious for the cynic or the faithless; but it is supported by the sure knowledge that the earth produces abundantly and that men are already in possession of the tools which could realize such a purpose if men chose to use them for that purpose.

This, then is a credo to which the representatives of 28 nations have subscribed—not a promise made by any group of men to any other group. It is only the people themselves who can create the conditions favoring these essential freedoms, which they are now repurchasing in the bazaar of war and are paying for with their lives. Nothing is for sale at bargain prices, nor will the house be built in three days with cheap labor. From a world in ruins

THEN AND NOW!

FOLKS: As we mark our Company's thirtieth birthday this week we like to think of the amazing list of comforts, conveniences and health safeguards that electricity has brought to millions of American people in the last three decades. And frankly we're proud of the part our organization has had in bringing these advantages to thousands of Kentucky families.

REMEMBER WHEN?—In August, 1912, practically all domestic customers used electricity for lighting only. Still years in the future were electric refrigerators, ranges, vacuum cleaners, washing machines, flatirons, food-mixers, water heaters, heating pads, clocks, radios, etc.

Each city and town was supplied from a local power house. Smaller communities had only dusk-to-dawn service. On moonlight nights there were no street lights. If equipment broke down the service was off indefinitely.

Invest In America!

War Bond Now!

EXPANDING SERVICE—Our Company began with service to eight towns. Today we supply 448 communities (including 218 that never before had service) from several large power plants interconnected by more than 2,500 miles of transmission lines. We started with 2,005 customers. Today we have 121,496—including 24 R.E.A. Co-operatives, and 4 lines to T.V.A.

MUCH LOWER RATES—Customers paid from 15 to 20 cents a kilowatt hour for electricity in 1912. Today our average domestic service rate is 3.9 cents. In other words, kilowatts cost about 500% more then and they weren't very dependable. Our 1912 annual payroll for 56 employes was $11,055. For the year ending June 30, 1942, it was $1,072,973 for some 1,200 employees. Our tax expense in 1912 was $7,170. Last year it was $2,509,867. Our first year's coal bill was $42,283. Last year it was over $1,133,851—and we paid out nearly $3,000,000 for other materials and expenses.

YOUR NEIGHBORS—Our Company is operated, owned and controlled largely by small-town Kentuckians—your friends, neighbors and lodge brothers. It's been our steady aim to give you better service at lower cost every year. We like to feel that we do our share for the State's progress and for the civic welfare of every town we serve. Right now, we're working to help win the war. After victory, we'll offer you more comforts and conveniences through electric service than ever—modern living at its best.

Only in the United States under a system of free enterprise, where man can engage in a business of his choosing and this business has the freedom to grow with the growing needs of the people, can all the services and conveniences you now enjoy be made possible. This American system is worth fighting for.

Forest Service Accomplishes A Great Deal

When the U. S. Forest Service and the CCC came to Kentucky on their joint program of acquisition and development, along the Cumberland Plateau were thousands of families in need of help, both in the home and on the farm. Families of 10 to 16 lived in 1 and 2-roomed log or frame shacks, some with- out doors, windows or floors. Water from a spring was per- haps a half mile away; there one it is too distant to attend, was no school, or if there was they were trying to wrest a living from poor soil on steep slopes with little or no chance for a cash income.

The Forest Service often ac- quired the problems of persons squatting on the land when they had no other place to go. It seemed imperative that some thing be done to assist them in a better way of life.

Through the CCC homes were repaired; rooms added where necessary; water supply was brought close by, and sanitary toilet facilities made available. Fences were built around crop land to keep out roving bands of cattle and pigs. In 1940 a special cooperative project was set up on a trial basis on one part of the Forest. Various bur- eaus of the Department of Ag- riculture joined hands to assist on the following basis: The Soil Conservation Service to classify the land suitable for ag- riculture and prepare plans for its correct use; the Forest Ser- vice through the CCC to pro- vide houses, barns, chicken houses and root cellars, fence the land, crush limestone and deliver it to the area; the Farm who did the work and to the Security Administration thru men who supervised and trained them for it.

On the Cumberland National Forest alone, the CCC construc- ted or helped construct 15 of these bridges large and small; built 250 miles of all-weather roads; 550 miles of pole tele- phone lines, carrying over 1,000 miles of wire circuits; built 25 steel and wood fire towers, the eyes of the forest fire detection system, fought thousands of forest fires.

But what of the Civilian Con- servation Corps enrollees them- selves? Thousands of boys who were trained in driving trucks, tractors, compressors, trail builders, rock crushers, and other heavy equipment have left the CCC to take responsible jobs in industry. With the U. S. in a titanic war struggle it has been decided to terminate the CCC. Altogether, several mil- lion boys who joined the CCC and profited under it are bet- ter trained and available for what- ever military or productive need this Country may have for them. The people who live near vacant CCC camps will not forget what "the boys" did for conservation in their local- ity, nor will these boys forget

Commencement

(Continued From Page One) for him to continue his education. During his pastorate in Hull, East Weymouth and Boston, he earned his A. B. degree from Boston University and won a Harvard working Fellowship and religion. In 1932 he accepted the pastorate of the Central Church, Lansing, Michigan. He did graduate work in social psychology at Michigan State College and received the degree of D. D. from Albion College.

In 1929 Dr. Kingdom became the pastor of Calvary Church in East Orange, New Jersey, and for the past twelve years he has been a prominent figure in the cultural life of that State. On his arrival in the East he became active in the National Conference of Christians and Jews and has served for ten years on its executive committee. In 1930 he received his honorary degree of L. L. D. from Ohio Northern University.

Dr. Kingdom resigned from the pastorate in East Orange in October 1934 to accept the presidency of Dana College in Newark. When Dana College merged with other institutions to form the University of Newark, Dr. Kingdom became the first president of the University. He resigned from the position in 1940 to devote himself to a study of how to interpret democracy and to encourage and implement all agencies at work in the United States to safeguard our country against the anti-democracy forces that are now active. He is now serving as a Special Consultant in the Office of Civilian Defense.

On December 30, 1939 Dr. Kingdom was awarded the Pi Lambda Phi medal given annually to the American judged to be the outstanding interpreter of humanitarianism and brotherhood for the year.

Brother Dies

(Continued From Page One) lived by his wife, Mrs. Antoinette L. Pope of the family home, and two brothers and a sister in Kentucky. He had the sincere liking and respect of all who knew him and will be missed greatly.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday morning at 10 o'clock from White's mortuary under the direction of the Spanish American War Veterans, with rites accorded him. Entombment will take place in the Pioneer Watsonville cemetery. At a later date, the body will be sent to Forest Lawn Mausoleum in Glendale for entombment.

Mr. Pope was the youngest brother of Mrs. A. L. Miller of this city, and was well known in this community.

LOST—Somewhere between Olive Hill and Morehead, a white gold watch, with Jr. A. U. M. emblem engraved on back and chain and knife attached. Reward of $20.00 will be paid for watch or information leading to its return. Call at News Office for information and return of watch and reward.

Air Cavalcade

(Continued From Page One) drop pamphlets over Morehead next Sunday. Due to the weather conditions we have had the last two Sundays we are afraid to give you the accurate time on which we will be there with the planes. If possible we will bomb enroute and if that is not achieved will endeavor to make flight back from Ashland to Morehead for the purpose of bombing with pamphlets.

I would say that you could expect the planes over Morehead from 11:00 a. m. to 2:00 p. m. Sunday. Sorry we are unable to give you more definite information but, of course, that is the hazardous part of a deal of this type, trying to anticipate what we will be able to do depending on the weather. Hoping this is the desired information and that you can be of some aid to us on publicity in Morehead, I remain,

Yours very truly,

G. E. Kincannon, Jr. Lieut. D. V. (S), USNR. Officer in Charge

Record Books

(Continued From Page One) complete history of your part in the great conflict. The bank is anxious to get a book in the hands of each service man. To do this they are making the parents a proposition. Briefly: If the parent will bring to the Citizens Bank a kodak picture or snapshot of their son or of their daughter, who is in any branch of the service, for use in the patriotic display in the windows of the bank, for the benefit of the public. After the war, the pictures are to be returned to the parents.

Naturally the bank is anxious to complete the display as soon as possible, so they urge you to bring in our pictures of the boys and girls as soon as possible.

We're Proud To Be A Naval Station Town

For several months Morehead citizens looked forward to the arrival of the Navy and the opening of the Naval Training Station. Well that day finally arrived and with it Sailors by the trainload. We are proud and happy to tell you now both Officers and Men that we are now after two months of being a "Navy Town", even more proud than we were then. So it is with a deep sense, not only of pride, but of gratitude and with a feeling akin to reverence at the deeper meaning of the Navy and all it stands for that we say to all of you
